Our Story List Grows Long

THE STONEY RUN PICNIC WAS SUCH A BIG success! Jake Elderidge says approximately 75 people meandered in and out at this years event.

The weather couldn't of been better and the food was so fantastic! In between munching the delicious fare, I had the opportunity to meet so many people from Evergreen! Already our story roster is growing. Look for articles in the upcoming issues on CAROL STEIL and her magnificently carved fence; stories from CHARLES LAIRE; french CHEF JEANNIER; KURT better known as "The Mayor of Schenley; HELEN MEREDITH, fine artist and painter; RICK BOBLITZ and his very historical tree; TOM & DEBBI SWISS; MR. RANDALL'S historically registered house, and much much more! Bellow is some information Jake Elderidge wanted me to pass along to you about community facts. Hope you October is a spooky one!

Enjoy!

The Evergreen Gets Wired

HOLD ONTO YOUR HATS everyone as the Evergreen Newsletter becomes a "techie" entity on the world wide web.

We want to announce the internet site of our newsletter for all of you online folks. What's wonderful about this foray, is that not only can our residents enjoy their monthly issue covering events and happenings around our town, but, so will thousands of others world-wide!!! Each issue of the evergreen will be posted on the internet along with the recipe book, and events. Anyone in the community who has a web-site can also take advantage of being linked to the homepage. This at no charge! To get to the Evergreen page, enter the following: pushproductions.com, it's that easy!

Let's Get More Recipes!

Deadline November 22nd. Here's your last chance to contribute to the recipe booklet.

We already have 20 recipes, however we know there are alot more out there! Just pop yours over to the: The Evergreen Community Newsletter, P.O. Box 5685, Baltimore, MD 21210 and look for your complimentary booklet to be accompanied with the next issue of this newsletter. Typewritten copy is preferred, but handwritten is acceptable too. Actually, if you have something scribbled onto a napkin or torn from a magazine, WE'LL TAKE IT! As long as it's your recommendation and you are a resident of Evergreen. All recipe copies submitted are not returnable, so please, no originals.

Send yours today...it's a piece of cake!
